RaidSonic's brand portfolio without Stardom

ICY BOX series for Macs moves into focus – New Raidon products from RaidSonic

RaidSonic's distribution of products of the Stardom brand will be terminated effective from 30th June. Those products are some external HDD enclosures, and small external and internal RAID enclosures. All products of the Raidon brand remain in the distribution of RaidSonic.

Already at the beginning of 2010 RaidSonic had brought out a series of single as well as RAID enclosures with Firewire ports specially for the Mac environment under their brand ICY BOX. The start was very successful, new products like a two-bay RAID system for 2.5" HDDs will follow soon.

Users and dealers who have RMA orders for Stardom products are asked by Stardom to turn to <http://www.stardom.com.tw/global.html> for the new importer.

The Raidon brand with intelligent backup and RAID solutions remains in RaidSonic's portfolio and makes it perfect. Raidon systems are designed for small and medium businesses. Next week we will present four new Raidon products.
